Get Members Involved
Getting members involved in fundraising is a great opportunity to engage with them. Members can help cook, advertise, and sell food depending on what your org plans to do for fundraisers.

Boothing Tips
Look presentable and organized by having your poster visible and eye-catching! Your chairs, canopy, and table should always be neat and clean. The person dealing with money should not be involved with handling food. Take this opportunity as a recruitment effort with flyers on hand! Make sure to stay prepared with all supplies that may be needed for your fundraiser!

Applying for a Temporary Food Permit
If your organization plans to sell perishable foods to non-members, authorized signers must apply for the temporary food permit and complete the COOL Food Training Orientation. It must be submitted at least 2 full business days before the event.

Booking Ring Mall Spaces
Fundraising on campus requires a reservation for a spot on Ring Road. You can call SCES at (949) 824-5252 or visit the SCES Website. Only authorized signers can make appointments and reserve spots. You can book up to 10 Ring Road spaces per quarter.

Reach Out to Local Businesses
Another way to raise money is to collaborate with local businesses for fundraising opportunities. When contacting a local business, be sure to include what your organization is about, why you are raising funds, and try to make a personal connection to the business.

Advertising Tips
Flyers and posters are great ways to advertise. You can hold signs while booting to attract those nearby! If you’re having a fundraiser off-campus, make sure to create online flyers to post on your social media accounts and even Facebook Class Pages.

Online Fundraisers:
Your organization can find charities to fundraise online, or even create bingo cards for non-members to help with donations!

Different Kinds of Fundraisers
Event Fundraisers:
These events can be banquets, concerts, or even service events. Raffles are a great way to raise money and provide engagement between members/non-members with the club. Different events will provide fundraising opportunities for your org!
